

Sustainable Products

Driving Innovation, Delivering Sustainable Solutions

We want to help you to make better products. Products that both you and your customers can feel good about. Products that are sustainable on three levels: economic, environmental and social.

How often do you really think about how good your products are? Do you really understand the benefits they bring in relation to the impacts that they might be having on people and the planet? Are they good enough to support and drive your business into the future?

Our Approach

Our tailored services will help you to take a fresh look at your products. They build on the reputation and expertise we have in engineering, design and strategic innovation. We have worked with over 200 companies and helped them improve the sustainability credentials of their offerings through a range of tailored consultancy and engineering services in the following areas:

- Sustainability Strategy
- Life Cycle Analysis
- Design, Engineering and Prototyping
- Sustainable Product Marketing

The Benefits

Sustainability has been recognised as a key market driver for innovation and has been already shown to benefit companies in the following ways:

- Increases sales and margin
- Realises reductions in environmental impact
- Develops brand value
- Helps identify cost savings
- Enhances relationships with customers, suppliers and employees

With a unique blend of skills and experience, working with C-Tech Innovation will enable you to realise the full benefits of sustainable product strategy.

For more information call us on +44 (0) 151 347 2900
or email kams@ctechinnovation.com

